COURSE OUTLINE

Modules & Extensions

Learnings may be included into a communicative method to improve learners' capacity for adaptation to changing circumstances.

Alternative learnings

Since this is a language research Centre, our goal is to replenish the qualitative learning by offering two to three alternative learning method iterations.

Research, Translation, Voice and annotation

By starting fresh research initiatives, we want to advance by posing questions that can be answered.

Literature and culture

We will talk about the respective language's literature and culture.

Tourism, language and employment

As it is well known, language is a key component of tourism. We would thus assist the students in learning their tongue in order to associate themselves with a wide range of work opportunities in the tourism industry.

Journal

We will have an electronic journal that can be accessed through our portal.

* Classes will be commenced from February, 2023

* Weekend Online Classes

* Special Classes by the foreign university professionals

AIM

The curriculum aims to encourage learners into deserving individuals who uphold moral and ethical values and have a strong sense of social accountability to execute their commitments to society and to the nation at large.
